HISTORICAL STATEMENT

THE CINCINNATI COLLEGE.

The Lancaster Seminary of Cincinnati was incorporated February 4, 1815, with power to acquire property to a limited extent, as the result of a movement started a year earlier. The school lots at Fourth and Walnut were leased and a building erected thereon, which was opened for school purposes in the spring of 1815. This institution soon developed into the Cincinnati College, incorporated by act of January 22, 1819, under the name of "The President, Trustees and Faculty of the Cincinnati College," for the erection and maintenance of a college, with power to confer all or any of the degrees that are usually conferred in any college or university within the United States. All powers and funds of the Lancaster Seminary were conferred upon the college. (17 Ohio Laws, pp. 46-50, reprinted in 52 Ohio State Reports, 375.)

THE LAW SCHOOL OF THE CINCINNATI COLLEGE.

The Cincinnati Law School was founded in May, 1833, by John C. Wright, Timothy Walker and Edward King. The first term of this, the first law school established west of the Allegheny Mountains, began October 8, 1833, with seventeen students.

In 1835 the school was incorporated with the Cincinnati College, and from that time it was conducted under the name of the "Law School of the Cincinnati College." It is today the only department of the old Cincinnati College that has survived. The quarters of the school were for many years in the College Building on Walnut Street, between Fourth and Fifth Streets, on the site of the old Lancaster Seminary, of which it is the direct and sole successor.

ENDOWMENT AND EQUIPMENT

ENDOWMENT.

The Law School has a substantial endowment valued at over four hundred thousand dollars. This includes, among others, the funds of the Rufus King Chair of Constitutional Law created by the will of Rufus King, a professor in the school from 1875 to 1891, and of the G. H. Wald Professorship of the Law of Contracts created by Mrs. Betty Wald and Richard H. Wald in memory of Gustavus Henry Wald, a member of the faculty of the school from 1896 to 1903.

THE LAW SCHOOL BUILDING.

The school owns its present home, the handsome and thoroughly equipped building, on Ninth Street, near Race Street, in the heart of the city. The building planned especially for law school purposes was erected in 1902 at an expense of $65,000.

The law library and the stack room are located on the first floor. On the same floor is the large reading room, well furnished with chairs, reading and writing tables, with a capacity for seating three hundred persons. This room is so arranged that it can be used as an audience room for general meetings of the school, or for special occasions requiring a large hall.

On the floor above are the professors' rooms and three large lecture rooms, well lighted and ventilated.

There are also club rooms, with chairs, tables and lockers, for the convenience and accommodation of the students.

LIBRARY.

The library contains nearly thirteen thousand volumes, including all of the leading English and American Reports, Digests, Encyclopaedias, Text-books and Periodicals. It is open to the students daily from 9 o'clock A. M. to 10 o'clock P. M.

Recent donations of books for the library have been received from Miss Anna E. Winston, Messrs. Johnson and Levy, Mrs. J. B. Foraker, Mr. William P. Rogers, Mr. George E. Mills, Judge William A. Geoghegan and Dr. Nathan Isaacs.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.

Candidates for a degree shall at the time of entering the Law School be required to present proof of the satisfactory completion of one year's work in a College of Liberal Arts and Sciences or its equivalent.

Applicants for admission to advanced standing are required to pass examinations on the course of study previously pursued in the school by the class to which they seek admission, or to present certificates showing that they have passed such examinations after having done equivalent work in some other law school of equal standing.

Examinations for admission to the first-year class of those who can not produce the required certificate will be given at the Law School.

SPECIAL AND IRREGULAR STUDENTS.

Special students are those who are not candidates for a degree. Irregular students are those who attend only part of the lectures and recitations of the Law School. Persons who desire to attend only part of the lectures may do so upon giving satisfactory evidence of their fitness for such a course of study, and upon payment of such a proportionate part of the regular tuition fee as may be fixed by the Dean. Special and irregular students may be admitted by the Faculty to any class as regular students upon complying with all the requirements of the school provided for admission to the class which they seek to enter.

EXAMINATIONS.

The annual examinations of each class are held in May. The right to take examinations as well as the privilege of continuing one's membership in the school at any time, is conditioned upon regular attendance at the exercises of the school, and conduct satisfactory to the Faculty and Trustees.

No student shall be regarded as having finally completed the work of the year unless he shall have obtained a general average in all courses of 70%, and a grade of 60% in each of the courses.

CONDITIONS.

If a student has fallen below 60% in not more than four courses, and still has a general average of more than 70%, he may take another examination in those subjects wherein he has secured a mark of less than 60%.

No one can be admitted as a regular student to the third year class who has any conditions standing against him.

THE HONOR SYSTEM.

The plan known as "The Honor System" has been adopted and applies in all examinations.

Under this system each student is placed upon his honor, and at the end of his examination paper certifies that he has neither given nor received aid during the examination.

DEGREES.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws is given to students who, having completed the prescribed course covering three years, pass a satisfactory final examination and are found in other respects worthy by the Faculty and Trustees. No degree will be granted to any one who has not entered upon the last year of his studies as a regular student.

By special arrangement with several Ohio colleges, including the University of Cincinnati, a combined six years' course leads to the Degrees of LL.B. and B.A.

TUITION FEE.

The tuition fee is $100 a year, the first half payable upon registration, the second half at the beginning of the second term. Payment must be made at the time indicated to entitle a student to take part in the class exercises.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Cincinnati Law School is the home of the Hamilton Chapter of the Legal Fraternity of Phi Delta Phi. In addition to social features, it is the object of the fraternity to supplement by lectures and quiz classes the class-room work.

The Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity is represented at the school by Chase Chapter. The purpose of this fraternity is mutual helpfulness among the members and the upholding of a high standard of scholarship. Quiz classes and reviews are conducted throughout the school year.

The Law School Club is an organization in which all students are eligible to membership. Its purpose is to promote student activities and to further the spirit of good fellowship. This object is largely accomplished by frequent informal evenings when eminent members of the bench and bar address the club. Well equipped rooms in the school building are furnished the club. This student organization has charge of all debating, including debates with other law schools.

The officers of the Alumni Association are:

President, Charles Wilby.....Cincinnati, O.
Secretary-Treasurer, Otis Fisk.....Cincinnati, O.

The next meeting of the Association will be held on Monday, September 23, 1918, at 8 P. M., in the Law School building. All graduates are invited.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES

The Faculty have established a scholarship of the value of $100, to be awarded to a student, selected by the Faculty, who has completed the course of study prescribed for the second-year class.

Mr. Richard H. Wald will give each year, so long as he lives, a certificate of stock in the Cincinnati Law Library or a scholarship of the value of $100, to be awarded to the student making the best record in the subject of Contracts.

A prize of $75 will be awarded to the student having the highest average of credits during the three years' course.

A prize of $50 will be awarded to the student having the next highest average of credits during the three years' course.

By his will, the late Hon. John R. Sayler left to the school a fund, out of the proceeds of which a prize of $50 for the best essay on the subject of Bills and Notes, and another prize of $50 for the best essay on the subject of Evidence are to be awarded each year.

The late Commander George Wood Logan, U. S. N., gave a fund of about four thousand dollars to establish a scholarship, to be known as "The Thomas A. Logan Scholarship," in memory of his father, Thomas A. Logan, a graduate of the Class of 1851, and for many years a member of the Cincinnati bar. The income arising from this gift is to be applied to the tuition, including the use of the necessary books, of students selected under regulations prescribed by the Faculty.

The Blackstone Institute of Chicago offer a set of Modern American Law to the student of the Third Year Class making the best record in the subject of Corporations.

Messrs. Little, Brown & Co., of Boston, offer a set of Select Essays in Anglo-American Legal History, to be given to the student of the First Year Class doing the best work in Legal History.

The American Law Book Company, of New York, offer a set of Cyclopedia of Law and Procedure to the student having the highest aggregate of credits in the Third Year Course.
